

Nose-It-All, LLC, is proud to host renowned trainer and AKC Expert Judge

TONY GRAVLEY

Tony's methods and techniques come directly from years training police and military dogs, and reach back decades to training Schutzhund and IPO. Tony also has been involved in companion dog scent sports (AKC and NACSW) since their inception and, in fact, contributed to creating the frameworks for each of these venues. He has adapted his immense knowledge from the professional world to teach those of us in the sport world how to bring out the very best in our dogs.

Do you want your dog to pull you into the search area and remain totally focused on the search from beginning to end? Do you want to stop asking your dog to check items and just be able to take a step back during your searches and watch your amazing dog solve the odor problems? Do you want to be confident when you say the F-word? (And I don't mean the one that comes after a "No.") Tony can help you accomplish all of that! No matter the topic, Tony's training style is about building the dog's DESIRE, DRIVE and COMMITMENT to doing the work. Tony uses pairing with primary (food or toy) to bring out the "Search Monster" in your dog. There's no one better to coach us to success in AKC Buried, Containers and Detective.

Friday, 6/28/24 - "Unearthing Success in Buried"

Location:

TBD training facility or similar near Carlisle, PA

Is this your most dreaded element in an AKC scent trial? It doesn't need to be! What is the best way to train Buried? Do you train for sand and water differently? What do sand and water do to odor and how does odor act differently in Buried versus the other elements? Is there a way to train Buried at home without having/breaking out a full setup of supplies? What are the unique challenges presented by Buried and how do we navigate them successfully? Tony will teach us training techniques and handling strategies designed to increase our success in all levels of Buried.*

*Patterning (your dog going from container to container in an orderly fashion, except when odor dictates otherwise) during your Buried searches can be helpful, too. The techniques to accomplish this will be specifically address in Saturday's "Demystifying Containers" Clinic.

Saturday, 6/29/24 - “Demystifying Containers”

Location:
Dandy Dog Training
72 Lonesome Road
Newville, PA 17241

Are Containers a thorn in your side? Do you struggle to tell the difference when your dog has hit target odor or is just sniffing something interesting? Do you find it challenging to know if you've covered all of the containers or if you've missed some? How much easier would it be if your dog just went from container to container other than when odor draws them away? Do you feel like your dog fakes you out with a false alert and you have no idea why? Does your dog sometimes alert on fringe odor, i.e., the box next to the hot box? Tony will show us how to help our dogs cut through the noise and settle on the right container quickly and efficiently, as well as how we can read their behavior to be confident when we call, “Alert!”

Sunday, 6/30/24 – “Sleuthing Out Success in Detective”

Tentative Location:
FNB Field
245 Championship Way
Harrisburg, PA 17101

OK, so my clever names are a bit repetitive, but Tony's instruction isn't! The Detective title requires us to bring all our skills to the table and be perfect 10 times. Are you competing in Detective or getting close? Then this Clinic is for you! Tony is an AKC Expert Judge with tons of experience with Detective. In addition to the unknown number of hides, what are the unique challenges presented by Detective and how can you best prepare yourself and your dog to conquer them? Tony will break down the complex dog and handler skills needed to succeed at Detective. PLEASE NOTE: This Clinic is limited to 10 Working Teams. Working Teams must be competing at the Master or Detective level.

WORKING SPOTS:

A handler may only work one dog per Working Spot.

All working dogs must be on odor.

Dogs will LIKELY be crated and work out of handlers' cars. There MAY be limited indoor crating available for dogs that can crate QUIETLY (no extended barking or whining) while other dogs are working.

Working Spots are limited – applying for a Working Spot does not guarantee acceptance.

WHAT TO BRING:

For Everyone - a portable chair; notetaking supplies; handler food and beverages.

For Working Dogs – treats and/or toys; water and a water bowl for your dog; dog clean up supplies; cooling/warming equipment, if you desire.
